To whomsoever it may concern:

Michalis and I have partnered for our social enterprise “The Best Oil Producer” for already 3 years now. He is a friend that I've had the privilege to know for over 10 years as we studied in the same university in Athens and kept in touch ever since.

He has always shown a great deal of meticulousness, strategic/holistic thinking and a responsible, systematic approach to delivering his assignments as a student of computer science and information systems. When we started up the business he was for me the voice of logic that kept me grounded and put things into perspective. Since we designed strategies and started laying plans he has demonstrated enthusiasm for entrepreneurship and a raw talent for project management, technical organization handling sensitive information and mining data out of big databases.

Michalis is knowledgeable with regards to technical tools, stays up-to-date with newest developments and cares for efficiency and effectiveness. He's an exceptional go-getter who follows up project-milestones and focuses on making things happen.

A list of the projects he started and/or developed in his tenure with me includes

- Building the website www.thebestoilproducer.com
- Managing the above with the content management system Joomla, handling real-time bandwidth, email management and migration issues
- Troubleshooting technical hiccups
- Editing our submission to the entrepreneurship contest Slam Pitch that won the 1st prize (Athens, December 2010)
- Updating the business plan

Clearly, the Best Oil Producer wouldn't be what it is today without Michalis. He has always been a pleasure to work with and would definitely be an asset to any team. Feel free to contact me if you would like more detail about my work experience with Michalis.
